center tomorrow (Saturday) night. A varied program, containing both dramatic and vaudeville features, has been arranged. "Champagne," a short classic of Russian village life, will be presented by Miss Babette Devay, Mrs. Maurice D. Sarby, Mrs. H. W. Goldstein, Mrs. Arthur L. Fischer and Mrs. Samuel

L. Orenstein. Of a completely opposite character is "The Two Goyim," a breezy, comic sketch of American life. In this playlet, Miss Beatrice Soltz plays the part of Jeanette Nadelburg, a snobbish young girl who, through a series of comic errors, becomes the victim of her own shallow aspirations. The role of Mr. Brachinsky, the meddlesome "schadechan" and "jack of all trades," is played by Miss Ruth Elsie Greenberg. The remaining characters will be represented by Mrs. Samuel J. Bialosky, Mrs. H. L. Fisher, Mrs. Joseph L. Krall, Mrs. Max Simon and Miss Rae Wolf.

The evening will open with piano selections by Mrs. C. H. Vavovitz and will close with solo dancing by Miss Irene Havlik, pupil of the Populoff-Rothbart Dance Studio. Linked with this program will be the presentation of the French landscape painting donated to Hadassah by Cleveland's renowned artist, A. G. Warshawsky. This work of art is closely allied to one of Mr. Warshawsky's paintings which is hung in the Cleveland Art Museum. Mrs. D. L. Helper, play night chairman, announces that payment at the door will be required on all tickets which have not previously been settled for.

The Queen Esther's Aid Society will give a card party at the home of Mrs. Berko, 10693 Massie avenue, on Sunday, April 12, at 2 o'clock. Prizes will be awarded at each table and refreshments will be served. Husbands and friends are invited. Mrs. H. Schoenbrun and Mrs. Roth are chairmen, assisted by Mesdames Herskowitz, Lazar, J. Roth, Grunzweig, Friedman, H. Klein, Drexler, Neubauer, Swartz, Sluzinger, Deutsch, Klein and Weisberg.

The Inter-School Club gave a theater party at the Ohio Theater in honor of its anniversary. The club will hold its next meeting Tuesday evening, April 14, at the home of Miss Esther Berkowitz, 1324 E. 92d street.

The last meeting of the Jewish Religious Teachers of Cleveland, at which Dr. J. Shawson spoke on "Psychology of the Jew," was well attended. On Sunday, April 26, Dr. A. Cronbach, professor of sociology at the Hebrew Union College, and author of the recent book, "Prayers of the Advanced," will address the organization at 8 p. m., at the Educational Alliance.

The semi-annual election of the Epsilon Pi Sorority was held at the home of Miss Jessie Gordon, 9015 Parmelee avenue, on April 5. The following officers were elected: Miss Jonette Preisand, president; Miss Matilda Lipkowitz, vice president and treasurer; Miss Dorothy Rosen, chaplain; Miss Jessie Gordon, social secretary. The sorority held a tea March 28, in honor of Miss Minnie Kaufman, who was home from Ohio State University. Among the guests present were Miss Pearl Ellis, Miss Rose Rabb, Miss Dorothy Jacobson, Miss Jessie Schermer.

All members of the Jewish Business Girls' Vacation Club are invited to attend the next executive meeting to be held on Monday evening, April 13, at 8 o'clock, at the home

CLEVELAND, OHIO, APRIL 10, 1925

A PLACE CALLED SCOPUS

BUT now, as soon as that legion that had been at Emmaus was joined to Caesar at night, he removed thence, when it was day, and came to a place called Scopus; from thence the city began already to be seen, and a plain view might be taken of the great Temple.

Thus does Josephus, smug sycophant and glorifier of Roman imperialism, introduce in his "War of the Jews," his reference to the fortification ordered by his master, Titus, for camps of two Roman legions, upon reaching Mount Scopus and viewing Jerusalem just at hand.

Addressing the throng gathered at Western Reserve University, April 1, to celebrate the opening of a Hebrew University upon the very spot where the legions of Titus began their attack upon the Holy City, which was to terminate in the destruction of the Temple and the massacre of countless thousands of men, women and children, Rabbi Solomon Goldman vividly contrasted the might of ancient Rome with the strength of Israel:

"Not by force nor by armies, but by My spirit," saith the Lord, "and tonight we realize the truth of these words."

An arch standing amid refuse and debris, the ruined Colosseum—these mouldering relics are survivals of the reign of the eleventh of the Twelve Caesars. The people's palaces, the marvelous baths through which the "love and delight of mankind" aroused the admiration of citizens of the Eternal City, are no more.

The "glory that was Greece and the grandeur that was Rome" have nought in common with the vision that is Israel.

The high hill overlooking Jerusalem, which in Titus' day trembled with the weight of Rome's deftly guided engines of destruction now bears vastly different tidings to the world.

Two small buildings on Mount Scopus symbolizing the dawning fulfillment of an age old dream, proclaim the bent and import of that living message.

THE GRAFTON POLICY

AT Grafton, W. Va., public school officials, it is charged, have openly applied the religious test in barring Miss Madeline King from a post as teacher.

As the result of Miss King's complaint, impeachment proceedings have been started against the president and members of the Grafton Board of Education.

Miss King, who is a Catholic, charges that in making application for a position she was required to specify the religious denomination to which she adhered. She further charges that under date of June 27, 1924, she received a letter from H. A. Rice, superintendent of Grafton public schools, which read in part as follows:

"Your application blank has been received. For your benefit I feel that I must be frank in telling you that it has been the policy of the Board of Education for years not to employ teachers of the Catholic faith in the Grafton public schools. For this reason, we shall not be able to consider favorably your application."

The "frankness" which characterizes this rejection of Miss King's applications makes the course in this matter much simpler than in those cases revealed in a recent report on conditions in a number of small Ohio towns. In the cases noted, each applicant was asked to state his religious affiliation and Jewish young men and women failed, in many instances, to receive appointment.

Inasmuch as there were no letters referring to the religion of the applicants, an opening was left for the explanation that rejection was decided upon for various other reasons. All of which resulted, however, in the definite claim by legal authority that the mere requirement that an applicant for a public post state his religious views is a religious test and is therefore contrary to the letter and spirit of the Constitution.

The outcome of the Grafton case will be awaited with the greatest interest.

IN THE HEART OF THE SEAS

Excavations on the sites of Utica and Carthage, now being undertaken on a scale commensurate with the archeological importance of such an enterprise, throw light not only upon the arts and customs of the dwellers in these ancient dependencies of Phoenicia but on the arts and customs of the ancient Phoenicians of the Syrian coast, long hidden or obscure chapters in the story of civilization will be revealed.

Phoenicia, "merchant of the peoples unto many isles," not only dealt in the merchandise of many nations but served as the bearer of national culture, sciences and arts from one land to another.

Hiram of Phoenicia, friend of King David, and builder of David's palace, gave Solomon cedar and fir trees and the services of skilled workmen for the Temple at Jerusalem. It was King Hiram who attacked and subdued Utica when it ceased to pay tribute to the mother nation.

Workmen are now unearthing the forum of Carthage, where seven-story buildings are said to have stood. Remains of palaces, tombs and public buildings may soon be brought to light.

For Carthage, in the hour of her fall, the Prophet may

"The New York Life Insurance Company has an excellent opportunity on its staff for young and middle age men. See Max M. OZER, Agency Director of the Euclid Branch, 1300 B. F. Keith's Bldg., between 10. A. M. and 12 Noon."

well have taken up the lamentation which he voiced when her mother still shone forth in resplendence at the entry of the sea: "The ships of Tarshish were thy caravans for thy merchandise; and thou wast replenished, and made very glorious in the heart of the seas; thy rowers have brought thee into great waters: the east wind hath broken thee in the heart of the seas."

BLASTS FROM THE SHOFAR

Now comes Luther Burbank, "wizard of plants and flowers" and a student of eugenics, with the proposal that there be a ban on all immigration. This recommendation he couples with a denial that America would stagnate with such a policy in force and in substantiation of his position he points to China, which stopped immigration 2,000 years ago and Japan, which stopped immigration 1,000 years ago.

Just how much either nation accomplished as a medium of world progress or civilization while its immigration walls remained in place, let Expert Burbank explain. Mr. Burbank declares inter-crossing has made America the greatest nation in the world. A merging of the strong qualities of many races, makes for greatness, in his opinion. If the ban, which he now urges, had been put into effect a hundred years ago, there would have been practically but one race and hence no merging of the strong qualities of many races.

The plant wizard in his "no immigration" interview was asked to comment upon the action of the Tennessee Legislature in passing a law prohibiting the teaching of the theory of evolution in the schools of that state. "Why do they not go ahead and pass laws against gravity, electricity, the telescope and microscope, light and velocity, and every instrument for discovering the truth? Why go only part of the way? Such was the plant wizard's reaction. But sarcasm explains nothing, as an expert should know. Mr. Burbank should study rural Tennessee. He might be interested in knowing that it has been touched by immigration waves.

Titus, the Roman conqueror of Palestine, received much of his military knowledge while detailed to service in far off Britannia which had been opened to Roman conquest by the first Caesar. Titus never could have foreseen the part that Great Britain would play in the restoration of the land of Israel. British soldiers aided Titus in his attack upon the Holy City. A British leader of today, Lord Balfour, is an outstanding figure in the ceremonies attending the opening of a great university on the very site where Titus pitched his tent.

Jewish Education as a Community Enterprise

By Alfred H. Sachs

Executive Director, Bureau of Jewish Education

One does not become a Jew by the mere incident of having been born a Jew. Judaism is a matter of training; of tradition transmitted from father to son; of intensive education and daily conduct. This vital principle was quite clear to our fathers from time immemorial. The poorest of them never permitted his child to stay away from "cheder," no matter how hard it was to pay the tuition fee.

Here, in this free and prosperous country, something, somehow, went wrong. The vital Jewish principle, demanding a Jewish training for every Jewish child, was forgotten, and here is the result:

In the city of Cleveland alone, nearly 14,000 Jewish children (out of 20,000) or, in other words, two out of three receive no Jewish education at all.

This disconcerting fact was brought out by the recent community survey made under the supervision of the Federation of Jewish Charities.

Nearly 14,000 Jewish children (and their number is growing from year to year) without any Jewish education, means many future American citizens whose moral and spiritual life is left to mere chance. They may not all turn out to be gross materialists or mean fellows. But a considerable number are bound to lack the refining and elevating influence which a religious education instills into the young and impressionable mind.

Neither the state nor the municipality is in a position to cope with this danger. The basic laws of this country prohibit the introduction of religious teaching in our public schools. Every religious group must grapple with this problem for its own members, and so must we, the Jews of Cleveland, because, if we don't, we shall, before long, find ourselves exposed to a two-fold danger: First, we shall become traitors to the glorious heritage of our people. Second, we shall lose the esteem of our fellow citizens in this country.

Speaking of Jewish education, the President of the United States says: "One of the dangers to America is that those who come here will break with their past. Those who come to our shores must bring with them, and never cease to cherish it. No person who is false to his Montefiore Home The regular quarterly meeting of the board of trustees of the Montefiore Home took place Saturday afternoon, April 4, in the parlors of the Home, following a luncheon given by Mrs. Berger, as hostess. There were present: President and Mrs. L. M. Wolf, M. J. Mandelbaum, Alexander Buchman, Theodore Fishel, Edward Schultz, William Adler, Mrs. W. S. Halle and Mrs. B. H. Siner, of the local board, also L. M. Krank, Theodore Max Goldstein, Youngstown; M. G. Newman, Peoria, and Isaac Druffuss, Detroit. The reports of the different officers and superintendent showed a satisfactory condition in all departments. The health conditions of the residents, according to Superintendent Berger, were better than at any previous time. A large amount of the usual routine work was disposed of, which included the admission of three applicants.

Upon discussing the coming B'nai B'rith convention, taking place in Cleveland next month, it was unanimously decided to entertain the ladies accompanying the delegates at a luncheon during the convention and it is also hoped that the delegates themselves will take occasion to visit the Home while in the city.

The directors acknowledge receipt of the following contributions: From Mrs. Flora M. Raub, Indianapolis, Ind., $100, in memory of her husband's birthday; from Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Singer, Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Kaufman and Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Eekstein, $12.50, in memory of Hiram Kraus; from Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Fishel, $50, in honor of their anniversary; from Joseph H. Klein, $5, in memory of his wife, Paulina Klein; from G. J. Federman, $50, in honor of their anniversary; from Mrs. Max Levi, $25, in memory of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Eyeman, Honesdale, Pa.; from Director Max Goldstein, Youngstown, $100; collected from friends in the city and additional collection of $55 by Director Morris Miller, Milwaukee, from friends in Wisconsin and Minnesota.

own nationality can be true to America.

"Teach the ancient landmarks to the youth of the Jewish race. Let them learn to venerate freedom by coming into a knowledge of the truth. That learning and wisdom which has been a sustaining influence to the Jewish race through all the centuries must be preserved for the benefit of mankind. The youth of your people can associate themselves for no more patriotic purpose."

The problem of the preservation of our next generation as Jews and citizens of character is one on which all elements in Jewry must unite. Jewish education must be planned as a communal undertaking, comprising every form of Jewish education and reaching all our children and youth in order for it to be effective. Jewish education must be planned, organized and controlled by the entire Jewish community. It must be given first place on the program of Jewish communal endeavor. It should loom large in the Jewish conscience.

Work at State Hospital Wins Wide Attention

Dr. Meyer K. Amdur, Viennese psychiatrist, whose work at Cleveland State Hospital has attracted wide-spread attention because of his use of a system whereby patients under treatment are inoculated with the blood of a sufferer from malaria fever, was a national Zionist leader in Poland prior to his coming to America. He was a member of the Central Committee of the Zionist Organization in Poland and a delegate to the thirteenth World Zionist Congress in Carlsbad. During the war he was in Siberia and in 1917-18 he was elected a member of the Siberian Parliament. In Vienna, Dr. Amdur was the pupil of Dr. Wagner-Jauregg, inventor of a form of treatment for sufferers from general paresis.

CLEVELAND JEWISH CENTER

Services welcoming the Sabbath will be held at sunset. There will be no sermon at the late Friday evening services. Services for the last days of Passover will be held on Tuesday evening at 6:15, Wednesday at 8:30 a. m. and 6:15 p. m., and Thursday morning at 8:30. Rabbi Goldman will speak only at the memorial services on Thursday.

Services on Saturday morning will be held at 9 o'clock. Prof. Israel Davidson of the Jewish Theological Seminary of America, considered the best authority on medieval Jewish literature, in his two lectures given at the Center made an unusually fine impression upon his audiences. Both lectures were very well attended. Dr. Davidson lectured one evening on "Jewish Culture in the Middle Ages as Reflected in Their Literature."

The Sisterhood and party is scheduled for Monday, April 13. Mrs. Harry Weinraub and Mrs. N. D. Kingman are chairmen of the occasion. All members are urged to attend.

Messes, M. D. Shannan and E. Nushnani have returned after spending the winter in Miami, Fla. The Center League Dance given on Sunday evening, April 5, was a huge success. About 200 couples attended and enjoyed the well planned program of the evening.

Miss Mary Elkonin, chairman of the social committee for the Center's League, has prepared and carefully outlined the type of a social committee which the League is to have for the coming season. The report is to be considered at the next Center League meeting.

On April 25, "The Red Indian Extravaganza," an operetta under the direction of Miss Jennette Harris, will be given. The operetta will be under the auspices of the Center League and the proceeds of the performance will go toward the establishment of a social room at the Center. The program will include Miss Vera Newstead Raleigh, Adelle Trubbecky, Philip Brestoff, Frederick Williams, Bert Land, all of whom are connected with the Cleveland Opera Company. An especially entertaining program has been arranged by Miss Harris.

The Players' Workshop will represent the Jewish Center in the Inter-institutional Play contest. The play upon which their committee has decided will be a one-act play, "The God," by Lewis Beach. "Johannesfeuer," by Sudermann, is the next production of the Players' Workshop. Two performances of this four-act drama, a translation and adaptation from the German, will be given in the Center auditorium, Sunday, April 12, and Thursday, April 16. Miss Della Merzbach will play the leading role in the production, supported by Leon Ginsberg, Albert Goldstein, Simon Posner, Sallie Bloom and Rose Kabanar. Miss Lillian Steiner will play the character role of an old gypsy woman. K. Elmo Lowe of the Playhouse is directing the entire production.

Saul Silverman and Miss Celia Weiss will represent the Jewish Center in the inter-institutional oratorical contest. Mr. Silverman's subject will be "A Plea for Jewish Unity," and Miss Weiss will speak on "Palestine, the Destiny of the Jew."

The Junior Congregation will hold services in the assembly room of the temple on Saturday, as usual, but on the last two days of Pesach, Wednesday and Thursday, April 15 and 16, they will hold services with the adults, as they did the first two days of the holiday. All the children attending the daily Hebrew classes are requested to attend these services and come early. Also the children attending the Sunday school are urged to attend services.

Services for the last two days of Pesach will be held at the same time they were held the first days: On Wednesday, April 15, and Thursday, April 16, the services will be held at 8:30 a. m. and 7 p. m. These services will be conducted by Rev. H. M. Teitelman.

There will be no daily Hebrew school classes during the week of Pesach, and no Sunday school classes on Sunday, April 12. The attendance for last Sunday registered about 95 per cent. Although the Hebrew pupils will not have to attend school during the week, they are supposed to attend services in the temple.

The general quarterly meeting of the entire congregation will be held Sunday, April 12, at 2 p. m. sharp. This meeting will be held in the assembly room and it is absolutely necessary that each and every member attend, as matters of vital importance to all will be discussed and voted upon. HEBREW UNIVERSITY FUND for the development of the university. The institution which now bears the name Hebrew University is composed of the following departments: The Institute of Jewish Studies; the Micro-Biological Laboratory; the Chemical Laboratory; a Roentgen Institute; an Agricultural Experiment Station and a National Library. These departments, established through the generosity of individual givers, or of committees created for the specific purpose, or through special bequests, or by the Zionist Organization itself, will require a great deal more funds than have as yet been provided.

The establishment of the general fund of the Hebrew University does not exclude the acceptance of contributions or subscriptions from persons who may desire to support the existing institutes of the university or to establish scholarships for special purposes, or to make any other special contribution in any one of the branches of the university. Such subscriptions or contributions may be made, earmarked for the purposes and the Central Office will see to it that the money thus subscribed will be used for the purpose indicated.

A national committee is being formed by the administrative committee, whose names will soon be announced. It is the intention to draw into this committee leading Jewish educators, leading philanthropists, and any number of persons who have hitherto not been actively connected with the work for the establishment of the Jewish National Home, but who may be specially interested in the development of the Hebrew University.

The Hebrew University, dedicated this week by Lord Balfour and Dr. Chaim Weizmann, represents the crown of all our endeavors. It is the quintessence of all that is involved in the Jewish National Home in Palestine. We appeal to all Jews to contribute generously and to utilize to the best of their ability whatever influence they may have in the Jewish communities to evoke an interest that will be registered in the form of subscriptions to the general fund in order that this striking feature of the Jewish renaissance may move on to greater and greater achievement.

In the name of the national executive committee of the Zionist Organization of America, (Signed) Louis Lipsky, Chairman. P. S. All checks should be made payable to the Hebrew University fund and remitted to the Zionist Organization of America, 114 Fifth avenue, New York.

The Second Passover Miracle

Written for the Jewish Independent
By Benjamin L. Kasner

A dismal April morning—the day preceding the fourteenth day of the month of Nisan—the day of the search for leavened bread.

In one of the apartments in a tenement house on Hester street, there is gloom and melancholy, notwithstanding that Passover is here. The broken windows are covered with rags which prevent the beams of the sun from entering this place of abode. An uncarpeted floor, two beds, a pine table, a chest of drawers, walls, whose bareness was relieved by a picture and a few photographs, constitute the main apartment in which the Hamershteins lived.

The occupants of this apartment are well known. Josiah, and his wife, Leah, and their daughter, Fagele, aged twelve, have been living in the same suite ever since their arrival to New York in 1922 from Roumania.

Josiah, over fifty, of average height, but underweight, with grey hair and a small beard, whose face expresses the tragedies and sorrows of the "Chosen People," is sitting by the table with his head bowed and leaning on his folded arms, which are resting on the table, and is thinking of those days when he and his family lived in joy and peace in the town of Barditschew, Russia.

Incidents—happy and tragic—flash through his mind. His thoughts shift to the town of his birth. There in Barditschew, he was renowned as a great scholar of the Torah. He was prominent in all circles of life and exerted great influence in the community. He was a merchant by trade and his kindness and generosity exceeded his wealth. Many a poor family was saved from starvation through his readiness and willingness to give a helping hand. His beautiful home was always open to all and every nook and corner breathed a spirit of welcome.

He recalls those Passovers when weeks before the approach of this great historical holiday his home was already sparkling with the hol-day atmosphere—the matzos, the wine, and what not, could be seen. And then the Seder—with its splendor, glory and beauty, commemorating the deliverance of the Children of Israel from Egypt—to which all the strangers and the poor were invited, and of their only son, Hershel, asking the "Kasbes" and the chanting of the Hagadah by all participants.

Memories come to him of the great World War; of Hershel being drafted and who has never been heard of since; of the pogroms that followed the signing of the Armistice; of his daughter, Myrtle, being murdered; of the complete devastation of Barditschew; of the family fleeing in search of shelter; of the escape into Roumania; of the struggles in coming to the United States, and his arrival in New York City.

In New York, Josiah eked out a bare living by peddling from house to house with notions and small household articles. His wife, Leah, helped along by earning a few dollars a week as a laundress and by plain sewing. Fagele attended school. And so Josiah, being a pious and devout Jew rarely repined, but strove to be satisfied with his lot and destiny.

The church clock is striking three, which reminds Josiah that he must immediately go to the Charity for his Passover supplies, which were promised him. But he feels somewhat weak as he has not yet completely regained his health from the nervous breakdown he had suffered.

Within the five and a half hours the windows were open at the opening of the ticket sale more than $11,000 was taken in and many were in line when the doors closed at night. The Sunday concert drew the most customers, while "Faust" appeared to be the most popular opera.

FOUNDATION STONE

from the Canadian Government, signed by the Prime Minister, conveying the best wishes of the Dominion of Canada.

The addresses in behalf of the Universities of Oxford, Aberdeen, Glasgow, Winnipeg, Lithuania, the United States and the Academy of Science of Amsterdam were in Hebrew. A particular impression was made by the Hebrew address of the oldest of the English universities, Oxford, represented by the High Commissioner, Canon Darby and Prof. Garstang. Lord Halifax appeared three times in behalf of the British Academy, Cambridge University and the University of Edinburgh.

"The opening of the Hebrew University on Mount Scopus overlooking the Holy City is one of the proudest moments in my life," declared Lord Allenby, conqueror of Jerusalem and British High Commissioner in Egypt, in a speech which he delivered at the Government House yesterday.

"Seven years ago I had the honor to preside at the celebration of the laying of the foundation stone of the Hebrew University. It is a unique experience to see work begun during the war, consummated in time of peace. There are particularly impressed on my memory those moments of the Palestine campaign when our army marched toward Palestine. Every man felt converted everyone to Zionism by his particular responsibility when infectious enthusiasm. He remembered that the goal of the campaign was Jerusalem. Not a time when the foundation stone for the university was laid was precarious in every way and without an immediate prospect of further advance. But Dr. Weizmann made light of this and furthering the Zionist plans he laid the foundation stone for the Hebrew University within Zionism as a fantastic theory until the visit to our headquarters a revelation of faith came to me. Never in my life have I seen such a man as all more confident in the ultimate Dr. Weizmann. He has the ability to victory," Lord Allenby concluded.

Young Cleveland Attorney Awarded Professorship at Cleveland Law School

At the age of twenty-six, I. R. Morris, Cleveland attorney, has been awarded a professorship on the faculty of the Cleveland Law School.

I. R. MORRIS

I. R. Morris, a native of Wheeling, W. Va., and son of Mr. M. Morris, has been awarded a professorship on the faculty of the Cleveland Law School. The youngest lawyer ever to receive such honor and responsibility at that school, Mr. Morris will be teaching on the law of corporations, the subject in which he is specializing in his private practice. With Volney Davis, President Judge of the Court of Appeals, is dean of the Cleveland Law School, and Joseph L. Stone, Silbert and Weygant are members of the faculty.

wards he studied at Columbia University and was graduated from that law school in 1922 with a scholarship given him in his senior year. Benjamin F. Stone, former dean of Columbia Law School, attorney general of the United States and now Associate Justice of the United States Supreme Court, has taken a personal interest in Mr. Morris, predicting a successful legal career for this young student of the law. In his practice I. R. Morris is associated with the law firm of Bernstein and Bernstein in the Engineering Building. Mr. Morris was formerly associated with the Big Brother Organization and is now a member of the Zeta Beta Tau Fraternity and the Temple Men's Club.

Passengers of President Arthur Raise Large Sum for New Palestine City

Jerusalem, April 4.—The maiden trip of the President Arthur will be written indelibly in the history of the Jewish homeland. This was decided upon by the passengers aboard the President Arthur, who counted among themselves a half a million dollars towards the building of a new Jewish city in Palestine. The new city will be named Zebulun, in commemoration of the tribe of Issachar, which was engaged in merchant marine.

JEWISH ORPHAN HOME SUPERINTENDENT COMMENDS SERVICE OF MT. SINAI

In a recent bulletin to Mt. Sinai Hospital, the superintendent of the Jewish Orphan Home, Mr. Samuel H. Kaplan, commends the service of the hospital in the care of the children of the Jewish Orphan Home. Mr. Kaplan, superintendent of the Orphan Asylum, Feb. 26, 1925.

The only satisfaction that I have enjoyed in visiting our children, who at Mt. Sinai, has been the unmistakable evidence of attention and fine service our children received. And if our record has been clear of the extreme anxieties that go with the care of four hundred children, it is due in good part to the wonderful co-operation we have received from your organization. I write this letter as a matter of pride and with the satisfaction that goes with the well being of our children. It is inspired by nothing other than a desire to give the widest publicity to the generous, capable and courtous consideration Mt. Sinai has unintermittently given the children of the Jewish Orphan Home.
